12:30:45 From Diane : Last week felt like the longest week ever

12:30:54 From Teresa : I just bought Til We Have Faces, ironically enough!

12:30:56 From Wyndi Labrecque : @Karyn https://www.amazon.com/Naked-Tree-Sonnets-Lewis-Other/dp/0802872883/ref=sr_1_1?keywords=the+naked+tree&qid=1584980987&sr=8-1

12:31:53 From simona To All Panelists : thanks

12:32:17 From Denise Gordon : I have two college kids (one mine) crashed in our LR/great room/kitchen combo for the duration....so our small home is in a very big transition right now. Love that we all have zoom meetings to look forward to. My daughter had an online class this morning

12:32:21 From Geannie : think occasionally of those of us with disabilities and chronic illness for whom this past week is basically the normal state of things.

12:32:22 From Katie Wiltse : Thank you Anne for asking the Douglas Gresham question! Fascinating!

12:32:55 From Geannie : minus the fear of extra illness lurking obviously

12:33:01 From Mrs. Karen : I'm looking forward to our MMD event. I missed the last couple of events including the discussion of Don't Overthink It. And I love to watch replays. But it's not the same as

12:33:09 From Kayla Stierwalt : Yes Geannie

12:33:16 From Sharalynne Pasztor : wow..you were taking a risk!

12:33:21 From Mary Ellen : So agreed Mrs Karen!!!

12:34:35 From KerryClem : aahhh that's amazing!

12:34:37 From Elizabeth : Oh my goodness, what an email!

12:34:38 From Jan : Geannie, I have a chronic illness and am used to being home a lot. I actually love being at home, although preferably not 100% of the time. Hope you are doing well!

12:35:01 From Diane : starting with the truth is always good LOL

12:35:07 From Kayla Stierwalt : Sorry for your loss Sandra. That's tough.

12:35:12 From Grace To All Panelists : the truth is usually a good idea 😊

12:35:33 From Mrs. Karen : So sorry for your loss Sandra.

12:35:34 From simona To All Panelists : brava from Italy too! the book sounds so interesting...

12:35:35 From Denise Gordon : So sorry for your loss Sandra. Happy to have you here!

12:36:05 From susan : "Written from the key of empathy..." Love.

12:36:12 From Laura Miller (library.laura) : I was so glad to hear that Douglas thought this was a great portrait of Joy. that is amazing, good job Patti!

12:36:44 From Diane : My heart goes out to you Sandra. Glad you're here today <3

12:36:44 From Denise Gordon : I can't imagine Geannie...I'm a germaphobe not too terribly bad, but this last week has my hands dried, cracked and painful when I do have to grocery shop and use hand sanitizer...my hands burn

12:36:45 From Michele Chambers : Sorry for your loss Sandra. I'm a widow of three years now.

12:36:56 From Ginger Horton : Don't forget to change your chat TO: All Panelists AND Attendees.

12:37:00 From Amy K. : @Mrs. Karen - we should ask the book group about Til We Have Faces. It's been several years since I've read it and would consider a re-read.

12:37:00 From KariS : I love that. SHE was honored.

12:37:03 From Ginger Horton : And if you have questions, put those in

Q & A now!

12:37:04 From Shawntaye : I'm so sold on this book.

12:37:17 From Wyndi Labrecque : I walked away from the book with this thought ... she wasn't recognized for her contributions.

12:37:22 From Judy To All Panelists : Thank you ladies so much! I love being able to participate in this virtual book chat.

12:37:50 From Kayla Stierwalt : Amy and Karen, I'd join you if I had a copy.

12:37:58 From Jill Hoke : Yay for historical fiction!!!

12:37:59 From JuliaPR : Oh good! I do love historical fiction, especially female-focused stories. Looking forward.

12:38:07 From Linda Aldrich : I agree, now she will be honored for her contributions and insights. well deserved.

12:38:46 From Judith Lake : I'm a research nurse, interesting to hear you were too

12:38:52 From beth elois To All Panelists : I love you!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

12:38:53 From Susan in TX : And, what is the next book that she's done with?

12:39:07 From Renee : Those are my most favorite kinds of books too! I love hearing from lesser known perspectives.

12:39:17 From Mrs. Karen : The chat goes by so fast. I'll try to hop on the forum sometime today and start a thread for interest in 'Til We Have Faces. That way we can chat more about it.

12:39:21 From Mary Ellen : Chills : "I love finding things that you say OMG I had no idea

12:39:22 From Puzey Family : Just ordered the extended paperback edition from my dear friend who had to close her indie bookstore in Black Mountain during all this. If you'd like to support her too, order from www.sassafrasonsutton.com

12:39:24 From gina To All Panelists : so grateful for technology that is making this "book tour" possible! I CANNOT wait to order this book!

12:39:28 From Wyndi Labrecque : I'm sometimes a little hesitant to "meet" authors of books I love. Listening to Patti speak about the book makes me love it more and want to read her entire backlist ... sunshine for sure!

12:39:50 From Wyndi Labrecque : Which is CRAZY when you think of his impact.

12:39:52 From Teri : I have heard that CSL is better known among regular folks in the US than he is in the UK. Is Joy better known in the UK than she is here?

12:39:52 From Mary L Wachsmith : I confess I have never read a single word of C.S. Lewis. Where should I start?

12:40:08 From Hillery : @Wyndi - she really is Sunshine!

12:40:11 From Carole Cornell To All Panelists : I've been listening to Becoming Mrs Lewis. I have never read C.S. Lewis 😞 and knew nothing about Joy. now I am so interested! I really need to order the paperback .

12:40:12 From beth elois To All Panelists : she is such a bright light in person and life too!

12:40:14 From Mary Ellen : @Teri ask that in the Q& A tab

12:40:17 From Stacy : Mary, Start with the Chronicles of Narnia and Mere Christianity :)

12:40:19 From Shopgirl221b : Mary, I'd start with the lion the witch and the wardrobe or til we have faces

12:40:21 From Cate : Absolutely loving every minute of this!

12:40:28 From Ginger Horton : Oh, Mary... I'm sure every Lewis will have a different answer, but I suggest Narnia. – The Lion the Witch and the Wardrobe.

12:40:34 From Puzey Family : @Mary Mere Christianity

12:40:35 From Ginger Horton : I'd love to hear Patti's answer on that.

12:41:05 From Stefanie Nordstrom : I concur – I read the Chronicles of Narnia when I was in my 20s for the first time and I so enjoyed them

12:41:08 From Mimi Hutchinson : Agreed. Ask Patti

12:41:09 From Amy K. : @Mary – with others I would suggest the Narnia series. So fun and good insight into how he writes.

12:41:12 From Mrs. Karen : @Wyndi – I love author chats because I feel like it just adds so much to the experience of reading the book. I've even had books that maybe were just an okay read for me but then after hearing the author speak about it, I wanted to read it again because it gave me more perspective on the book.

12:41:16 From Stefanie Nordstrom : I think now would also be a great time to read those 12:41:16 From Kayla Stierwalt : Narnia sounds like a fun series for the coming weeks.

12:41:19 From Shopgirl221b : Just to make sure you know, the Narnia books are kids fantasy but 100% timeless :)

12:41:20 From Sarah Robinson Schwartz : @ Mary – really depends on your style, Would you like to start with more philosophical works? Fiction? Sci-fi? Fantasy?

12:41:35 From Ginger Horton : Bookshop: <https://bookshop.org/a/1047/9780785224501>

12:41:43 From gina To All Panelists : I'm using this California Shelter in place to help my kiddos fall in love with Narnia!

12:42:10 From Coco : I love Shadowlands, one of my most useful quotes when in horrible pain come from it. “ Would you give up the joy we are experiencing now for the pain you will feel later?”

12:42:41 From allysonwieland : I recommend starting with “The Great Divorce” or “Letters to an American Lady” Both are short.

12:42:47 From Ginger Horton : Don't forget to change your chat TO: All Panelists AND Attendees.

12:42:51 From Linda Aldrich : Warren was a fascinating part of this book.

12:42:52 From Teresa : My sister just finished Narnia and LOVED them. I'm looking forward to rereading them as well. I recently purchased another copy of the series with the original drawings in color.

12:43:13 From Teresa : The drawings are also beautiful.

12:43:36 From Shawntaye : This makes me think of Sue Grafton. In a talk in Kentucky not long before she died, she said that she always answered every letter received.

12:43:44 From Stefanie Nordstrom : Oh wow – that sounds like a good mystery story to tell in and of itself

12:44:07 From Teri : Questionable, mysterious lost letters of CSL? I see a fiction mystery in there somewhere...

12:44:24 From Laura Miller (library.laura) : Teri, yes!!!!

12:44:32 From Wyndi Labrecque : Such a great approach

12:45:02 From Karyn : That is genius

12:45:11 From Mary Ellen : @Teresa – which version of Narnia is that? sounds so good!

12:45:13 From Karyn : Genius

12:45:18 From lauracrosby : Such a ton of hard work!

12:47:00 From Marie : Such an interesting explanation of the portions of letters in the book!

12:47:42 From allysonwieland : For Warren fans – a collection of correspondence between him and a medical missionary in Papua New Guinea has come to light. Diana Pavlak Glycer is working on a book about the relationship between the two.

12:48:02 From Denise Gordon : Great idea @Mrs. Karen...I'll look for it in the forums.

12:48:28 From Denise Gordon : Hope we have an after party today. This has been so informative and FUN!! What a blessing to have these to look forward to Anne.

12:48:43 From Mrs. Karen : @Denise, It will probably later in the afternoon or early evening before I will be able to get to the forum.

12:48:51 From Michele Chambers : Thank you allysonwieland. How interesting. I'll look for that book.

12:48:55 From Teri : Whoa! Letters from Warren! Yay Diana!

12:49:34 From Mrs. Karen : How interesting!

12:49:40 From Kayla Stierwalt : No rush Karen. I'm glad we've got a place for all of us to connect.

12:49:47 From Renee : @Teri – I would absolutely read that!

12:49:52 From Donna Burris : This is such a bright spot in my day. Thank you Anne.

12:49:59 From Denise Gordon : Yes me too @Mrs.Karen :)

12:50:21 From Teresa : @Mary Ellen Here is a link for the Narnia set: https://smile.amazon.com/gp/product/0064409392/ref=ppx_yo_dt_b_asin_title_o00_s01?ie=UTF8&psc=1

12:50:37 From Wyndi Labrecque : I could listen to this all afternoon ...

12:50:46 From Grace To All Panelists : this is one of the best author talks I've ever heard. thank you Patti!

12:50:47 From Laura Miller (library.laura) : This reminds me of why We Were The Lucky Ones also had to be historical fiction. Filling in the blanks of history with imagining.

12:50:49 From Mrs. Karen : Read A Grief Observed. It was recommended to me when my mom's health was failing and she was given a short amount of time to live.

12:50:54 From Julie Turner To All Panelists : Are you able to tell us anything about your next book?

12:51:05 From KariS : We could talk books all day
